Dewey Opens To Jury, Charges Hines Protected Rackets

Dewey Alleges Protection Started In 1932 With "Dutch" Schultz

RACKET POPULAR FOR SMALL PLAY

Mentions "Dixie" Davis In Charge And Explains Visits Outside

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

International News Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—America's No. 1 racket buster, district attorney Thomas E. Dewey, in his opening address to the jury today branded James J. ("Jimmy") Hines, powerful leader of Tammy Hall as "the protector" of the $20,000,000-a-year policy racket which was run by the late "Dutch" Schultz slain gangster chieftain.

Large Scale Operation

Hines, 61 and silver-haired, is on trial charged with having entered into a conspiracy with the Schultz syndicate. He is accused of having agreed to "influence, intimidate and bribe" city officials, including judges so the "racket" could operate on a huge scale.

As Dewey hurled the charge of "protection" against Hines, the latter's poker face did not change its expression in the slightest. He leaned back in his chair, and listened intently.

Dewey accused Hines of controlling and protecting the racket. The dynamic young district attorney declared that "Hines protected the racket and the Schultz mob advertised it openly and brazenly."

According to Dewey, many small policy rackets were running in 1931

PA NEW OBSERVES

Old folks are having their fling at Cascade Park today, while the young folks are looking on. Fifty years from now the young folks who are doing the looking today will be the old folks of their generation. What a satisfaction it would be for the old folks of today if they could lift the veil of the future and see the world as it will be a half century ahead. In these troublesome times some of us wonder what the future holds in store for America. The young folks of today will help in shaping that future, if they are able to stand up under the terrible debt which is being placed upon their shoulders and that of their children.

Republicans of Crawford county are making elaborate plans for the annual Crawford county Republican picnic which is to be held on August 24. State candidates who are scheduled to be present are Judge James, Senator Davis, Samuel S. Lewis and William S. Livingsood. During the month of August the party's candidates are in semi-retirement, preparing both mentally and physically for the intense activity and the wearing ordeal of a strenuous campaign. Lawrence county Republicans have received an invitation to attend the picnic, which will inaugurate the opening of fall campaign in which the G. O. P. expects to win.

One doesn't need an almanac to tell us that we are in the midst of dog days. Most of us who have been sweating around in the heat naturally feel a little resentment toward the dogs for bringing us this kind of weather. However, we don't

Find Two More Torso Murders In Cleveland

Identify Body Of Eleventh Victim As Woman, Believe Other Victim Was Man

POLICE SEARCH FOR ARMS AND LEGS

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—Searching through the junk heaps where the body of the torso murderer's eleventh victim and part of the twelfth victim's body were discovered, police today found arm and leg bones which they said were the remainder of the second body.

Coroner S. R. Gerber planned to reconstruct the skeleton, and said he expected to be able to determine soon whether the victim was a man or woman. The eleventh victim was a woman.

Study Bodies
Meanwhile, Coroner S. R. Gerber of Cuyahoga county and police scientific experts continued their intensive study of the latest gruesome discovery. Preliminary examination of the eleventh victim's dismembered body showed that the victim was a woman between 35 and 40 years old, Dr. Gerber said.

Only the head and 44 bones of the twelfth victim's body were found. This discovery was made while police were examining the scene of the first find several hours earlier.

Dr. Gerber hoped to establish by microscopic tests of the hair of the twelfth victim whether the dead person was a man or woman. He Senator Walter F. George answers President.

Answering President Roosevelt's effort to unseat him in his primary campaign for re-election to the U. S. senate, Walter F. George of Georgia, anti-New Deal Democrat, is pictured replying to the president in Atlanta. George said the president's unprecedented tactics had raised the issue of whether the people of Georgia or any other state are capable of choosing their own servants. President Roosevelt, in a recent address at Barnstable, endorsed the candidacy of Lawrence S. Camp, federal district attorney.

Alex Dutkin Sets New Golf Record, Plays 202 Holes

Never Over 80 For Entire Grind, Solomon His Partner Out At 144 Holes

It wasn't enough that the temperature was in the stratosphere Tuesday, Aug. 16. Two local golfers, Alex "Chinkie" Dutkin and Israel "Humpty" Solomon, had to add to the humidity by going out and doing a golf marathon on the Castle Hills golf course, and when the shades of night had fallen Dutkin had turned in cards for 202 holes. Solomon called it a day at the 151st hole.

It appears to be some kind of a record for endurance in heat that would wilt the ears off a brass monkey. The boys just wanted to see if it could be done, and it was—that is, if the golfing could be done, not the ear wilting.

Play Good Golf

In piling up the record both Dutkin and Solomon played real golf. For the 202 holes Dutkin's average for each 18-hole round was 78.3. Solomon's average for the 151 holes was 76.5 per round. Their best ball average for 144 holes was 70.4. Solomon shot two 70's, his day's average being 76.4. Neither boy was over 80 on any round.

They started a few minutes before five o'clock in the morning, and at 8:05 Tuesday night Dutkin holed out his last putt. During the day they kept going with lemonade, candy bars, salt water and sandwiches. Neither one carried a compass.

Dutkin's achievement is a record for Lawrence county.

Helping Solomon and Dutkin were the following boys who had a tough time lugging the bags in this hot weather: Ted Buckowski, Abe Solomon, Ralph Annacilla, Paul Chip, Gershie Solomon, Stanley Kibishi, Eve Glasco, Anthony Colello, Marlan Klick and Henry Fisher.

Defends Right To "Purge" Party Of Those Who Disagree With Him

WILL DEDICATE NEW BRIDGE IN CANADA

By GEORGE DURNO

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Any doubt that may have remained about President Roosevelt's determination to "purge" his party of New Deal recalcitrants was dispelled today as the chief executive momentarily deserted the national political battlefield to pay his fifth good visit to Canada.

There is nothing for the president to do as the responsible head of the New Deal—but to publicly repudiate those who have betrayed the New Deal in the past and will again.

Slays Sister, Wounds Nurse, Then Suicides

Corry Man Believed Unbalanced Believed Women Were Trying To Poison Him

HAD APPEALED TO CORRY POLICE

(International News Service)
CORRY, Pa., Aug. 17.—Fancied wrongs distorted by a degenerating mentality were believed by police today to have impelled John Holland, 75, to kill his invalid sister, Mrs. Molly Holland Taylor, 79, seriously wound her nurse and then end his own life.

The nurse, Mrs. Betty Stewart, 43, shot through the breast, was in a serious condition in Corry hospital but was expected to recover.

Holland had an insane belief that his sister and Mrs. Stewart were planning to poison him, according to police. He had appealed to police a few hours before the shooting to have Mrs. Stewart evicted from his home. Police also learned he had threatened the couple six weeks ago.

Suffers Hemorrhages

Mrs. Stewart was suffering constant hemorrhages today, according to hospital attendants.

Holland, whose mentality had been questioned of late by neighbors, was resentful over the care Mrs. Stewart was giving his sister, police said. He had attempted to obtain police help in keeping her from the plain little home where he and his sister lived but when police refused unless he swore out the necessary (Continued On Page Two)

Dr. William L. Steen today criticized persons whom he claims recently dug a spring a few feet from the edge of the Big Run in the eighth ward. The spring is on the south embankment. He said the bottom of Big Run is polluted and any spring in that section is dangerous.

He claims that water is being used from the spring and that the health bureau has been criticized because the health officer has attempted to stop anyone using water from it.

Reynoldstowners Are Kids Again At Annual Gathering

Meet, Greet And Eat In The Old Pearson Street School Building

80TH ANNIVERSARY OF OLD BUILDING

Pioneers in this school reunion business, the Reynoldstowners gathered Tuesday afternoon for their 81st annual session in their old Pearson street school house, this time on the 80th anniversary of the building's erection.

Reynoldstown reunion have a distinctive Reynoldstown flavor, and a mighty delicious flavor. It is. They differ from other reunions in that they are entirely spontaneous and follow no prepared program. Like a Roman candle, all they require is someone to light the wick and off they go in a blaze of glory.

Mrs. McGurk Presides

Well, the wick was lighted by the president, Mrs. Anna Tobin McGurk, at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, and with one thing leading to another the program lasted until 5 o'clock and every minute was intensely interesting. It was encouraging to note that in the crowd which filled the class room were more than a dozen people, (pedigreed Reynoldstowners all), who were attending for the first time. With such interest it looks as though the affairs will go on for a long, long time.

As we were saying, Mrs. McGurk called the meeting to order at 2:30 o'clock. Prayer was offered by Frank Fischer. Everyone sang a verse of "America."

Mrs. McGurk welcomed the guests, former teachers and pupils of the Reynoldstown days, and paid a tribute to the memory of Prof. Will N. Aiken and John Snyder who first started the organization. She spoke of the reunion being the pioneer of its kind, adding, humorously: "If it hadn't been for Reynoldstown, no school in the country would have had a reunion."

The president mentioned with regret that a few of the beloved members had passed on since the 30th reunion, mentioning among others, Mrs. Levinah Durant, Bob Clark and Anna Welsh.

Around 70 people were in attendance (Continued On Page Five)

Plans Progress For Convention Of Fire Laddies

Eight Counties Will Be Represented In Gathering Here Next Week

MANY VISITORS EXPECTED PRESENT

New Castle firemen, under the direction of General Chairman J. Myron Rice, director of public safety, have practically completed plans for the entertainment of the fire fighters of northwestern Pennsylvania at the district convention, which will take place August 25-27 in the Moose Temple.

The city fire equipment has been newly painted and placed in spic and span condition for the visitors, and work is being done on the erection of a huge steel flagpole, alongside Central station, which will be in place by the end of the week.

This pole was bought by the firemen from scrap pipe, and was welded for them by the Pennsylvania Engineering Works. The pole was hauled to its location by the Bell Telephone company, and is being painted and put in place by the firemen.

Atop the pole will be one of the old lantern markers which was on the first fire engine bought by the city, known as Eagle No. 1, which dates back to 1880. It has been wired for an electric light, which will blaze from the top of the pole.

A varied program of entertainment has been planned for the visitors, which in addition to the business sessions, will include demonstrations, light, scenic tours, banquet, smoker and will conclude with a mammoth street parade, for which handsome prizes have been offered.

The local firemen have been working hard on the convention plans for the past three months and are in readiness for the arrival of their guests next week.

Roundhead Veterans In Annual Reunion

Only Two Of Once Gallant Band Able To Attend, One Other Vet Present

DR. J. J. M'ILVAINE IS NAMED CHAPLAIN

Old White Hall on the public square—it's now the Central Presbyterian church—was the scene Tuesday afternoon of the 73rd annual reunion dinner of survivors of the 100th (Roundhead) regiment of the Pennsylvania Veteran Volunteers, famed Civil war regiment.

Three Vets Take Part

To the celebration came two aging members of that regiment which answered President: Abraham Lincoln's call to arms in 1861—James P. Sankey, 92, who served Company K and who, lives in Crafton, and John B. Rodgers, 95, who served Company E and who resides here. Sankey is the Roundhead reunion organization's president.

Another Civil war soldier, but not a Roundhead, was out to share the program—he was Edwin L. Ayers, (Continued On Page Seven)

Old Timers Are Assembling For Annual Reunion

Gather At Cascade Park To Renew Acquaintance—ships And Enjoy Program

LARGE CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

In spite of the threat of rain, there was a large crowd of Old Timers gathered in the pavilion at Cascade park this afternoon for the 37th annual reunion of the Old Timers association, representatives of the pioneer families of New Castle and Lawrence county.

A good program has been arranged for the occasion by President Fred B. Sankey and the members of his executive committee, and a good time is sure to result for those present.

The program calls for a quadrille starting at 1:30 o'clock by the pupils of Croton school, under the leadership of the principal, Asa Hoffmaster, and Miss Mildred Sargent, playgrounds instructor.

Then after the grand march at 2 o'clock came a period of dancing of the old time waltzes and quadrilles and a period of reminiscing. As has been the case for a number of years, the reunion has been the occasion for a gathering of former residents here who now reside in distant points, and they were present from the four corners of the nation and from intervening points.

Weather permitting, the reunion was to close with a basket picnic in the grove at 5:30 o'clock, along with another period of social pleasantries for those who had not seen one another for years.

Four Die From Effects Of Heat In Pennsylvania

Showers And Slightly Cooler Predicted For Tonight By Weatherman

TEMPERATURE SETS MANY NEW MARKS

(International News Service)
A rising death toll was anticipated today as the record-breaking heat wave held its sultry grip over Pennsylvania.

Already four deaths were blamed directly or indirectly on the heat in the Pittsburgh district while the toll rose to 10 in Philadelphia and nearby by Southern New Jersey.

Mrs. Catherine Miller, 56, of Mt. Oliver, a Pittsburgh suburb, died last night of a heart attack she suffered while wading in the cool waters of Paris Lake, near Coverdale.

A prediction of light, scattered showers from the west was the sole hope for relief held out by government weather forecasters.

Yesterday's 94 in Pittsburgh was the highest for that date since 1888 when the weather bureau began keeping records. Likewise, in Philadelphia, the official high of 95.1 degrees topped the 50-year record of 95 recorded in 1888 and was 1.2 degrees above the previous hottest day of the year which was Monday.

Sleep In Parks

Hundreds slept in the parks in Pittsburgh and elsewhere as the heat made bedrooms unbearable.

In Uniontown, the 95 degree heat was held responsible for the deaths of two persons from heart conditions which were aggravated by the extreme temperatures. Two had previously died in Pittsburgh.

In the western section of the state humidity was relatively low but Philadelphia reported a high humidity, adding to the unpleasantness.

Showers Predicted
By early nightfall, thousands of perspiring heat victims jammed Schenley and Highland Parks in (Continued On Page Two)

Mullentown Holds Annual Reunion

Hugh D. Horton Named As President Of Association For Coming Year

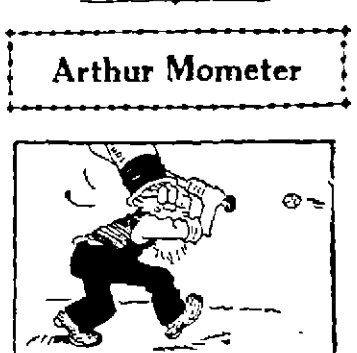

PRESIDENT TO NAME GENERAL COMMITTEE

As the years roll round so does the interest in the Mullentown reunion increase, as the ninth annual affair of that organization at Cascade park held yesterday seemed to be more interesting and enjoyable than those gone before.

A large crowd was in attendance and there was not a dull moment at any time. The clan started to gather early in the afternoon and by the time a picnic dinner was served in the grove at 6 o'clock, a couple of hundred persons were on hand. Quite a few persons were present that had never attended one of the reunions and they all promised to be back next year, providing nothing happens to prevent their coming.

Cousins-Chismar Wedding In Croton M. E. Church On Tuesday

Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock a lovely wedding of the season took place in the Croton Avenue Methodist Episcopal church when Miss Neva Adaline, daughter of the Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Cousins of 510 Haus avenue, became the bride of Frank Chismar, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chismar, Sr., of Meadville, before a throng of relatives and friends of the couple.

The church altar was beautifully decorated for the occasion, with palms and ferns providing a green background for the numerous baskets and standards of cut flowers in varied hues. Lighted candles in branching candelabrum completed the setting.

Given in marriage by her brother, Richard Cousins, the bride was attractive in her wedding gown of white satin, made on Princess lines. The neck was cut high, the sleeves long, and her train was medium. Her shoulder length veil fell from a cap of seed pearls and she carried a Colonial bouquet of mixed blooms.

The single ring service was read by the bride's father, Dr. J. A. Cousins, who officiated.

Miss Helen Cousins, as her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, wore a flowered chiffon gown, too length, off-set with white. Her tiara which adorned her head, was white, and she too, carried a Colonial bouquet of flowers in shades of harmonize.

Edward Chismar served his brother as best man.

HOT ENOUGH THERE

INASMUCH as no one is ever likely to have occasion to go there it does not make much difference that down about 186 miles from the surface of the earth it is just as hot now as it was when the globe began to cool off. But that is one of those somewhat interesting if somewhat useless conclusions reached through calculations of scientists. Dr. L. H. Adams of Carnegie Institution's geophysical laboratory tells us that the heat of earth's dense, semi-plastic iron core had been estimated at 3,743 degrees Fahrenheit.

The age of the earth, as estimated by measuring the amount of the radio-active element uranium which has broken down to lead, was about 1,500,000,000 years, Dr. Adams said, while "from astronomical observations an upper limit of 3,000,000,000 years is indicated."

Analysis of data collected by the geologist, the physicist, the seismologist and the mathematician makes possible deductions on how temperature varies with depth. "Especially striking is the conclusion that below about 186 miles the temperature is nearly the same as it was originally; the greater part of the earth is now as hot as it was when solidification first took place," the Carnegie scientist asserted.

It may interest us to remember all that in those days, now only a few months off, when the chill of zero winds gets into the marrow of our bones and we shiver and shake only 186 miles from unlimited heat.

MILLIONS FOR PLAY

There was a time when grownups thought of play as a waste of time. If they engaged in it they made excuses.

But nowadays most people set apart certain regular time for play, and helping them to get the most fun and recreation has grown to be a business of immense proportions. A large and growing part of our territory is set aside for recreational purposes. Huge industries thrive in producing thousands of different articles used in sport, hiking, hunting, fishing, touring and the many other activities of vacationing.

The magnitude of these business interests may be learned from a report issued by Syracuse University which says: "More than a billion dollars is spent annually in motor camping and travel in forested areas. Hunters and fishermen spend $800,000,000 in addition to travel expense. More than $350,000,000 is spent for summer homes, lakes and resorts."

When it is considered that this development has come largely since the beginning of road improvement and the automobile industry, its future appears unlimited.

NOT SO HERE

If democracy needs testimonials, other than those inherent in itself, one surely is to be found in the present delicate situation of Europe, balanced between war and peace.

It seems literally true that the peace of the continent depends at the moment on the judgment, will and, we may say, sanity of three autocratic rulers.

Europe could be plunged into war overnight by a single rash or false move by Mussolini, Hitler or Stalin, three men who are a law unto themselves and whose peoples, even if their influence could be made effective in decisions of state, are blinded and led by a controlled press.

The irrationality of vesting such authority and such responsibility in an individual must be plain to those of the world's peoples who still are free to think. Modern psychology has revealed how little reliance may be placed in the mental and emotional stability of any individual, under stress.

The collective judgements of a democratic nation may be fallible and even foolish on occasion, but at least on the average they are more stable, less rash, more worthy of trust than any individual's.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SAVING CHILDREN'S SIGHT

SOME BLIND parents have written me to say that they have this column read to them. Some others who read it have poor sight. Your heart and mine go out to those who must spend a whole life time in darkness. And most of them could have been saved to see.

Thanks to the medical profession, many an infant now at birth is protected from blindness by proper eye care; too many still are not.

Very sensitive to light, the infant's eyes need constant protection by the parent. During early infancy, let the student be drawn while the baby is awake, and expose him not to brilliant artificial light. Be not deceived by his apparent enjoyment as he stares at the bright bulb. Dim it, even though you have to improvise a shade.

Don't teach your little child to read before he enters the first grade. Reading makes a big demand upon his not-yet-well-controlled eye muscles. Fortunately most primary school readers are in large print written in short lines, well suited to the young child's eye-control.

Children who are precocious readers may neglect normal play with other children, tiring out their eyes instead. Don't let this happen. Social play is more important by a thousand times. I wish teachers of reading in the first few grades were not bent on having children read so many books in these early years. Rather I wish these teachers were to inspire parents to read much at this time to their children. Unless you supervise the school child, he may read in dim light, read while lying on his back or stomach, and assume all sorts of unfavorable positions when he reads.

Lie In Own Light

Unfortunately the several million children who daily read the comic strip of the newspaper lie on their stomachs on the floor, in their own light. More unfortunate still, some of the statements on the funnies are not legible—though there has been a marked improvement in recent years. I wish the parents reading this column would sit down and write the editor of this paper begging him to persuade those who use the comic strips to print more legibly and, furthermore, beg him not to reduce these strips in size so much as some editors do.

Be sure also to compliment your editor upon those comics whose legends are well lettered. We do a lot of good for our fellow readers when we praise the editor for the best his paper prints. He welcomes letters from his readers, complimentary ones as well as those that "crab."

So am I also glad to hear from my readers, and glad to answer personally when a self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THEY HAVE NERVE

Well-to-do citizens of America who have country places where they entertain their friends on weekends, as well as other times are often imposed upon by their friends. Believe it or not, there are many people who invite themselves to such places.

One of these buttinskis writes to her "dear friend" as follows:

"If circumstances are favorable I should like more than anything to spend the next week-end at your charming country place but before entering into definite commitments of this kind, it is my custom to submit to the hostess a short questionnaire. Will you be good enough, Mrs. Blank, to answer this and to drop it in the next mail:

"1. Do you own any dogs? If so (a) Are they friendly? (b) Are they so friendly they scratch at guests' bed room doors all night in an effort to further the friendship?

"2. Among the other guests, will there be any fresh air fiends? Musicians? Athletes? Debutantes? Literary critics?

"3. What time do you get up on Sunday mornings?

"4. Do you meet guests at the station?

"5. Kindly list all trains going back to the city beginning at eight Sunday morning.

"Thanking you in advance,
"Mrs. Brown-Smith Buttinski."

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THOUGHT FOR GRUMBLERS

Just an hour or two for play!
All the rest for work or trade!

All the rest to sell away
For the sake of being paid.

Just an hour or two to keep
Twixt the task and time for sleep!

So life seems a bit unfair
When our hopes and plans go wrong.

With so many hours for care
And so few for mirth and song.

Then the bravest of us ask
For a lighter, easier task.

But man's pride is not of play
Nor of pleasure nor of ease;

'Tis the tedious, toilsome day
Holds the goal he wants to seize.

And that rest he longs to know
Only hardships can bestow.

Politicians will solicit funds to aid their campaigns from anybody. The idea of soliciting money from WPA workers is about the lowest type of trying to get money. It looks as if the boys high up are putting the works on the boys low down.

But 'tis a common proof,
That lowliness is young ambition's ladder,
Whereby the climber upward turns his face;
But when he once attains the upmost round,
He then unto the ladder turns his back,

By which he did ascend.

Some of the birds on public work are getting better pay than they ever get while those who do the hard work get very little. It takes too much high priced supervising to get the work done. The hard worker should get the most money.

Jack (nonchalantly)—Stewed chicken.

WHEN you invite guests to dinner, be sure to inform them as to whether they should wear evening clothes. It causes embarrassment when guests arrive in informal clothes to find their host and hostess "dressed," or vice versa.

Readers' Questions Answered
Dear Miss Markel—At what time of day is it proper to serve a buffet meal?
NEWLYWED.
Answer—At any time at breakfast, served at noon; luncheon at 1 or 2 o'clock, or supper in the evening, as well as at any afternoon or evening reception.

Dear Miss Markel—I know a bride should write "thank you" notes to all who gave her wedding presents. In addition to this it is necessary for her to mention the gifts when she sees the donors at her wedding reception?
ANNIE.
Answer—Of course, gifts should be acknowledged as soon as received—before the wedding. In addition to such a note, the bride might during conversation with each donor mention the gift and how lovely it is. Copyright, 1938, by Watkins Syndicate, Inc.

Georgia Election Important
Three-Way Fight Interesting
Held Key To National Fight

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—If President Roosevelt succeeds in swinging Georgia's Democratic senatorial nomination to Lawrence Camp, on Sept. 14, political Washington's consensus is that he can consider himself as having the party effectively by the scruff of the neck—that it will be his kind of a party on into the indefinite future.

In a clear-cut fight between George and Talmadge I know of no Georgians (and they have some highly intelligent newspaper correspondents here) who question that George would be victorious.

Probably, it is agreed, Camp would win over Talmadge in a clean-cut fight between the two.

But in a triangular contest there are plenty of guesses that the George-Camp-Talmadge contest there are plenty of guesses that the George-Camp split might enable Talmadge to horn in and win on a run-off.

There is a fourth candidate, William G. McRae, but he does not seem to signify materially.

TALMADGE
George, except for presidential opposition, would win in a walk.

Camp would stand no chance against him except for presidential support.

Talmadge has much of the late Huey P. Long's quality. Say what you will as to Huey, he had appeal "ad lib." Talmadge has it too. I have met him here in Washington. Call him "demagogic," as President Roosevelt implied! All the same he is likable and pungent. I can see why he gets the grassroots voters.

AS STEWART SEES IT
This is more critical.

George, Camp and Talmadge? If George wins it is O. K. If Camp wins that also is decisive. But if it is indecisive, it is a run-off between George, Camp, Talmadge and McRae.

I should bet on George, of course. Talmadge, second.

Naturally this will gum up the final result terribly.

Prisoner Wins Freedom Today

Frank Campos, 44, Of Erie, Has Served 18 Years Of 5 To 10 Year Term

TERM EXTENDED FOR TWO ESCAPES

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Frank Campos, 44, of Erie, whose attempts at prison escape have kept him in jail for 18 years although his original sentence was five to ten years, today was granted his freedom in common pleas court here on a writ of habeas corpus.

Campos' contention that a second sentence of five to ten years imposed on him for escaping from the Centre county jail was illegal was upheld by Judge W. Robert Dittmer. Campos contended that the sentence should have been one to two years and in this Judge Dittmer agreed.

Campos was sentenced from Erie county on a charge of larceny, breaking and entry, May 14, 1920, and imprisoned at Rockview penitentiary. He escaped from the prison January 23, 1924, but was captured two days later and held in Centre county jail. Campos escaped from the jail February 22, but was again captured and sentenced four days later for the five to ten year term to begin following completion of the first sentence. Campos attended the hearing but did not testify.

Gas Mask Saves Life Of Famous Automobile Racer

(International News Service) BONNEVILLE SPEEDWAY, Utah, Aug. 17.—A gas mask which Capt. George E. T. Eyston, English speed driver, wore while hurdling his gigantic 24-cylinder "Thunderbolt" over the Bonneville salt flats at 270 miles per hour, was credited today with saving him from possible disaster.

"I'm mighty glad I was wearing that mask," Captain Eyston declared after warming up his car Tuesday in preparation for an assault on the world measured mile speed record of 311.42 miles per hour.

"Otherwise, it might have been most difficult." The enclosed cockpit was filled with fumes from the two motors and the brakes, Captain Eyston said he would alter it to lessen the menace of the gas.

TOOK WEEKLY CUT FOR PROTECTION OF POLICY GAME

when Schultz decided to muscle in and organized the "numbers game" into one big racket. He contended Schultz formed an organization, with George Weinberg and Harry Schoenhaus as his partners. Schultz had a war on with gangster Vincent Coll, Dewey said, and the organization didn't begin to really function until February 1932. In the organization, according to Dewey, were a lot of "guyulas."

Spent One Hour

Dewey delivered his address to the jury in a casual, matter-of-fact manner. He talked for only about an hour and fifteen minutes. He explained in detail how the policy game had become popular particularly with people of small means who bet pennies, nickels and dimes in the hope of pulling down the big prizes. He said the chances against the player winning were 1,000 to one.

"Schultz took over the lottery games in February 1932," said Dewey. "On Washington's birthday, in that year, Hines came back from the Springs and the protection was arranged."

"From that day on, Hines got $500 a week from Schultz, and anything else he wanted up to $1,000."

Dewey discussed J. Richard ("Dixie") Davis, a disbarred lawyer and former "mouthpiece" for the Schultz organization. Davis was arrested in Philadelphia months ago and brought back to the Tombs in New York, recently it was announced he had turned state's evidence and would be a star witness for the state. With Davis, when he was arrested, was Hope Darc, beautiful red-haired show girl.

"While Dixie Davis was in prison," Dewey told the jurors, "he had a bad throat which required expert medical attention. He was allowed to visit his doctor."

"He also visited a woman named Hope Darc several times at her apartment, where he kept his things. He changed his clothes there and had meals. The mother of Hope Darc was present. I ask you not to believe innuendoes about these visits."

Dewey related that there were a few arrests after the Schultz organization got control of the policy racket.

"A raid on the bank was an expensive business," said Dewey. "He said those arrested were provided with legal protection."

Citing the extent of the organization, he declared that on one of the police raids $10,000 worth of policy slips were found.

"Otherwise, it might have been most difficult."

Guy Case Is Heard By Judge Braham

Marital Troubles Of Mr. And Mrs. Earl W. Guy Are Aired In Court

Judge W. Walter Braham heard the non-support case of Mary K. Guy against her husband, Earl W. Guy, of the Seventh ward, at court this morning. The testimony showed that they had lived together for many years but during the latter part of their married life had considerable trouble.

"The house in which they lived was bought partly with money belonging to Mrs. Guy's mother and there were some complications over this. At the time of their separation Mr. Guy claimed that he had told his wife that he would pay part of the expenses at a school she wished to attend to prepare for special work. Payments were stopped when Mrs. Guy secured a position in Richmond, Va., at $100 per month."

Guy, who was a railroad, claimed that his wages had been cut down until he only earned about two-thirds as much as when they were living together. Guy said that he was willing to go back and live with his wife, but Mrs. Guy declared she would never live with him again. The court made an order that Guy pay his wife $15 per month.

ance, and of that number five had also attended the very first reunion of the association.

Mrs. Ella Pollock, secretary for the past 25 years, (and unanimously re-elected again yesterday) read the minutes of the last meeting. Bob Whaley, faithful treasurer, gave his report, showing a balance in the treasury, something quite commendable in these times.

Musical Numbers

Jim Mayberry took charge of the informal entertainment period at this juncture and introduced Reed McCullough who in turn introduced young Bobby Sewell who gave couple guitar and vocal solos. With Judy Cypher still at the piano, Miss Margaretta Hess sang two numbers, and then McCullough himself sang "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

Three gentlemen were summoned from the audience, and after Master of Ceremonies tied their left arms to their sides with a rope they were sent around with empty cigar boxes to make the annual collection. In the meantime Mayberry entertained the gathering with a bathtub act.

Four teachers shared in the festivities yesterday: Mrs. McGurk, the worthy president; Mrs. Carmi Glover, Mrs. Lizzie Cussison and Eva Donaldson. There was a whole raft of out-of-towners present and they were asked to stand. They sat down, darn them, before this writer could get all their names, but among a few: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Armstrong from Zelienople, W. M. Kroes from California, John Howard from Cleveland, Mrs. Lydia Taylor McCandless from Washington, Pa., Mrs. Harry Vandegriest and Mack Foster from Pittsburgh.

Talk Of Yesterday

School day memories were talked over with much interest. Remarks were made by Mr. Kroes from California, who attended Reynolds-town in the Seventies when he was a lad of seven years old. Sam Armstrong who recalled Lydia Faisley, Mrs. DuShane, Prof. Martin Genz and Prof. Aiken, Mrs. Armstrong who spoke of the day the Phillips' barn took fire and the smoke filled Miss Westcott's classroom; Fred L. Rentz, who said that "I appreciate the fact that I belong to the nicest school reunion bunch in New Castle," and mentioned that the schooling he received at Reynolds-town was the only schooling he ever had, and that he "graduated" in the sixth grade; Fred Sankey, president of the Old Timers Association, who recalled his high school days at Aiken school, spoke of Prof. Moore and Miss Ella Russell, and ended by inviting everyone to the Old Timers picnic at Cascade Park (today).

Harry Brown, who was one of the younger members who started in '95 when Mr. Thompson was principal, and W. E. Wenschen, who told of some of his teachers.

Legislators Hot Recess Session Until September

Special Probe Committee To Meet August 25 To Survey Work Of Investigators

By J. WILLIAM THEIS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—Pennsylvania legislators drew their first restful breaths in four weeks today, homeward bound from a special session of the legislature that will resume September 6 with a relief squabble as well as a graft charge battle ahead.

Senate and house are to reconvene the Tuesday following Labor Day and pick up their political knitting where they left off abruptly yesterday—"needies" and all.

The session wound up when it did because of these apparent circumstances:

1. Members were anxious to get home, for political, business and personal reasons. The summer heat, too, figured in the picture.

2. Gov. George H. Earle, on an aerial vacation into South America, was not present to sign any bills passed.

3. A factional flareup over civil service examinations and general policies in the public assistance administration was threatening Democratic majority lines.

4. Until the supreme court rules on constitutionality of legislation restricting grand jury action on graft charges against the administration, further moves were futile.

Two important committees were to continue work during the recess, however. They were the house committee investigating the corruption allegations brought against Governor Earle and 13 other Democrats, and the welfare committee studying the public assistance setup, especially as it regards old age pensions and civil service examinations.

The house probe committee, of which Rep. Herbert B. Cohen, D., York, is chairman, is to meet on August 25 and survey the work of two investigators now in the field. The committee postponed public hearings at the suggestion of the supreme court, which is to review a lower court order impounding evidence and withholding testimony from the house body.

resident of the Pulaski district, a former sheriff of Lawrence county.

Dinner served at 12:30 by the ladies of Central Circle of the Central church opened the celebration, and following it came the traditional reunion program.

Rentz Toastmaster

The toastmaster for the day was Fred L. Rentz, lauded during the program as "the man who has probably done the most" for the reunion group.

Rentz introduced the honored guests—the Civil war soldiers—and other distinguished guests in attendance.

Officers For 1938-39

In the annual election of officers which came during the afternoon but one change was made—Dr. J. J. McVaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church was elected chaplain to succeed the late Rev. William H. Floore of Houston, Texas. Rev. Floore died last Memorial Day.

Continuing officers, besides Dr. McVaine, include James F. Sankey, Crawford, the 92-year-old president who is as active as can be; William H. Dunlap, this city, and former Judge James A. Chambers, vice president; Miss Anna Gilliland, this city, secretary-treasurer; Miss Laura M. Stevenson, this city, honorary secretary; Dr. Gyla McDowell, Beaver Falls, chairman of the history committee, and Miss Frances McDowell, Beaver Falls, chairman of the membership committee.

History In Preparation

The reunion group heard Dr. McDowell, head of the organization's history committee, announce that a complete publication recording Roundhead history will probably be ready for distribution at the 1939 reunion. Dr. McDowell and her committee members are preparing the history.

Miss Frances McDowell reported for the membership committee. It was from Old White Hall on the diamond that the Civil War Roundheads left for battle in 1861. Miss Laura M. Stevenson, energetic honorary secretary of the group recalled yesterday. Miss Stevenson's work has been largely responsible for much of the reunion group's success.

Music As They Enter

As the guests assembled in the church before the dinner, soft organ music, played by Miss Helen E. Byers, organist of Central church, greeted them. And then, as they entered the dining hall later, Mrs. Elizabeth Anne Byers Porter played "Marching Through Georgia" on the piano for their entrance. Mrs. Byers' mother's cousin, John Tate, composed the tune for that martial air.

Toastmaster Rentz called upon Rev. W. J. Holmes, present supply pastor for the Calvary Presbyterian church, to give the invocation.

At the close of dinner the distinguished guests were introduced—the three honored soldiers and Mayor Charles E. McGrath, William H. Dunlap, city councilman and vice president of the Roundheads, and Miss Stevenson, who was praised for her work as honorary secretary.

At the speakers' table sat the three soldiers, Rev. Holmes, W. W. Stevenson, secretary of the 134th regiment, former Judge Chambers, Dr. Mc-vaine, Mayor McGrath, and Mr. Rentz.

Two Widows Present

Present for the ceremonies were two widows of Roundhead soldiers—Mrs. M. K. McDowell, resident of this county, and Mrs. Thomas O'futt, this city.

Another in attendance to share the program was Fred P. Sankey, nephew of the Roundhead reunion group's president and president of the Old Timers' Day association which held its reunion today at Cascade park.

During the exercises Toastmaster Rentz recalled again the names of the four Roundhead survivors. He said they include Mr. Sankey and Mr. Rodgers and Jacob Womer, of Los Angeles, and J. G. Marshall, of Kansas City, Pa.

The he read a group of letters from Womer and Roundhead friends who were unable to come for this year's reunion. In one the death of the chaplain, Rev. Floore, was announced. He was elected to that post when Rev. J. R. Rankin, D. D., Butler died several years ago. Rev. Floore enlisted in Company K August 31, 1861, record show, and was discharged with other surviving members July 24, 1865.

Comrad Sankey spoke briefly yesterday.

Flowers for yesterday's banquet were donated by Mrs. Norman Patton, granddaughter of a member of the Roundhead regiment.

Letters From Group

Letter Tells Of Death

Dear Miss Stevenson: This is to notify you that my grandfather, Rev. Wm. H. Floore, passed away last Memorial Day, May 30th.

He was in very ill health the past year, and was confined to his bed the last two months he lived.

His last rational talks were of his Bible and to tell us his "War Stories".

Very truly yours,

MRS. E. L. EDMONDSON,

No. 3014 N. Shepherd St.,

Houston, Texas.

Comrade Womer's Greetings

Los Angeles, Calif., August 4, 1938.

Dear Miss Stevenson:

As the day draws near for another reunion of the "Roundheads" Comrade Womer sends greetings and best wishes again from California.

He is very well at present though not able to make long trips. We thought he would be able to attend the reunion at Gettysburg last month, but he changed his mind when the time came for him to leave home.

Again—Greetings to all comrades and friends.

J. D. WOMER,

(Bessie Womer Dourasov)

No. 232 W. 40th Place.

Note:

Mr. Womer was a member of Co. B. He enlisted in February, 1864 and served until the regiment was mustered out July 24, 1865.

Rev. Nesbitt Writes

From Rev. S. M. F. Nesbitt, D. D.,

No. 428 No. Bever St.,

Wooster, Ohio, Aug. 13, 1938.

"I have received card reminding me of the reunion which will be held on the 16th.

I would enjoy meeting with the members of the Roundhead Association, but am prevented on account of illness. Will you kindly extend my greetings to the members and their many friends.

The numbers in the ranks of the Veterans of '61 are becoming less every year and we cannot do too much to bestow upon them the honor to which they are entitled and so richly deserve."

Moravia Street Townsend Club To Meet Tonight

Another sign of age is the realization that very few spots on this planet are fit to live in all the year.

They Play Roles In Hines Case

James Shallock, Hines' attorney

Among the many figures playing prominent roles in the sensational policy racket trial of James J. Hines, Tammany district leader, in New York include two pictured above. James Shallock, a Hines attorney, is said to be a protégé of Hines.

Mrs. Richard Davis is the wife of J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, former lawyer of the late policy king, Dutch Schultz, who has turned state's evidence against Hines. It has been rumored Mrs. Davis would seek a divorce from him when the trial has ended. When arrested, Davis was found in the company of Hope Dere, former showgirl, listed as his "sweetheart."

HIGH OATS YIELD
MERCER, Pa., Aug. 17.—Eight acres of the oats crop at the County Home thrashed out 72 bushels to the acre which establishes a new record of this grain crop in Mercer county.

Superintendent Thurman Callahan states that the crop will average 60 bushels to the acre which is a high yield. The home crop will be over 3000 bushels of oats.

The wheat crop over the county is thrashing out one-third of an increase. The corn crop will break new records in that grain. Old timers predict the year will be epochal for results in record breaking grain crops.

TRANSPORTATION PROGRESS

The two "crack" trains—Twenty-third Century Limited of the New York Central System and Broadway Limited of the Pennsylvania Railroad represent the latest in modern rail transportation. Not a little part in the launching of these two trains was played by two new alloy steels called USS Cor-Ten and Man-Ten, furnished by Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation. Developed to increase strength and decrease weight, these steels were used in the construction of 100 passenger cars, enough to make up four complete trains for each "Limited." Stronger and about one-third lighter than their predecessors, the new cars help make it possible for these famous trains to maintain a mile-a-minute 16-hour schedule between New York and Chicago, contrasted with 20-hours at a 45-mile average as recently as 1932.

SAFETY IN RIDING BICYCLES

The desire for a brand new, shiny bicycle is in the heart of every healthy boy and girl, and when a request is made for such a vehicle, it is usually granted with a feeling of apprehension on the part of the parents for the safety of the youngster. Many of us had bicycles in our boyhood days, and about the only hazards we had were the old open street cars to Cascade Park, or the old coal wagon hauling coal to Aunt Minnie's coal bin at summer discount prices. Today, the picture has changed, and "Safety Engineering" gives us the following rules to aid in avoiding bicycle accidents and injuries that go with same:

Obeey traffic regulations, especially stop signals and traffic lights. Give hand signals when you want to stop or turn. Always have a warning signal on your bicycle. Don't ride too fast. Don't hook on to automobiles to be pulled along. Ride with both hands on the handle bars. Don't ride other passengers on your bicycle. Have a headlight and a taillight or reflector on the bicycle at night. Don't coast in traffic. Don't apply your brakes suddenly or too hard. Give pedestrians the right of way. Sound your warning signal when approaching intersections. Ride only on streets in which traffic is light.

Keep to the right and close to the curb or side of road.

Look out for cars pulling into or out of parking places.

Do not pass automobiles ahead of you.

When drivers back of you sound horns, pull over to the right to let them pass.

Look out for cars which may attempt to pass on your right.

Don't turn or cross at intersections unless it appears safe.

Don't weave in or out of traffic, cut across streets or turn between intersections.

Park your bicycle on the sidewalk.

This will prevent injury to yourself and damage to your bicycle from autos.

Fine Speaker At Lion's Luncheon

Club Makes Plans To Sponsor Local Boy Scout Troop In Sheep Hill Area

An interesting, educational, and worth while talk relative to the customs, government, and living conditions in India, was told Tuesday by C. A. Stewart, who is visiting this country from India, at a weekly luncheon session of the local Lions club.

Stewart, principal of the Mission high school in Dhariwal, Punjab, India, spoke on the topic, "Rural Reconstruction in India." He brought out the fact that 90 per cent of India is rural and for this reason his talk covered the majority of the residents of that country.

The speaker told the club members what the government and the missions in India were doing in order to educate the people and establish better living conditions. Mr. Stewart accurately described the circumstances and the manner of living which now affect those living in this far away land.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr.

Stewart gave the club an opportunity to ask questions. This resulted in a lively and interesting discussion period.

At the business meeting, preceding Mr. Stewart's talk, Orville Kerr was taken into the group as a new member. Dr. E. P. Henderson, president of the club, presided over the business meeting.

Plans were made for the Lions club to sponsor a Boy Scout Troop located in the Sheep Hill Area, here.

Scout Executive Karl F. Green was in attendance and he was called upon for a few remarks regarding this subject. At the present time this troop is active but without a sponsor.

Would Probe Governor's Jaunt In Motor Police Plane

Senator Owlett Challenges Right Asks By What Authority Governor Earle Uses Plane Bought For State

COMMISSIONER FOOTE REFUSES COMMENT

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—Legislators who in the four weeks of the special session have squabbled over everything from graft charges to civil service examinations today had a new and somewhat unique problem before them. This time it had to do with the "authority" by which Gov. George R. Earle was permitted to use a state motor police airplane on his South American vacation tour.

Owlett Challenge
Sen. G. Mason Owlett, R. Tioga, challenged the governor's right to use the plane when he presented a resolution in the senate demanding state motor police commissioner P. W. Foote to submit a statement showing:

The detailed cost of the plane; the authority under which a plane was "purchased and paid for from the motor license fund"; the authority under which the use of the plane was permitted the governor for a "vacation trip" to South America; the arrangement whereby an officer of the motor police (Cap. A. M. Banks) was permitted to pilot the plane on the trip.

Democratic leaders immediately rose in defense of the governor, with Sen. John D. Dent, D. Westmoreland, shooting at Owlett:

"I think maybe the point that hurts you most is the report that the governor landed in Mexico City safely. I think this is purely petty politics. Maybe you ought to give it to Mr. Shelley (Dauphin county district attorney in charge of the proposed grand jury probe of the Earle administration) to investigate."

Quotes President
Dent declared that the president often uses the ships of the United States Navy to go on vacation trips. Sen. Harry Shapiro, D. Philadelphia also defended Earle by declaring that for a man who always questioned the constitutionality of laws Owlett seemed to make up his mind very quickly so far as the validity of the resolution was concerned.

The resolution was referred to the aeronautics committee after Owlett's motion for a rules suspension to allow immediate consideration of the measure was defeated 11 to 23. Commissioner Foote refused to comment because the measure was still in the legislature and had not been forwarded to him.

'Sales Mean Jobs' Crusade Based On Five Basic Truths

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles outlining the National Salesmen's Crusade.)

THE NATIONAL SALESMEN'S CRUSADE

The idea grew out of five simple facts:

1. Unemployment is a major national problem. The purchasing power of every family in the nation is influenced directly or indirectly by the purchasing power of every other family. The success of any manufacturer or any industry is directly or indirectly dependent upon the success of other manufacturers or other industries.
2. Most families still have the ability to buy, even though the purchasing power of many is either impaired or non-existent. It is true that millions of our citizens are unemployed, but it also is true that many other millions are at work.
3. If sufficient quantities of the products of our farms and our factories can be sold to those who are at work, the necessity for new production will create employment—and consequently, purchasing power—for those now without jobs.

4. The key position is occupied by the salesman of America, because not only is it they who can seek out all possible buyers, but also, it is they who can stimulate the desires of those buyers to a point at which such desires outweigh the fears that have been keeping them from purchasing.

5. No single group of salesmen can do the job alone. But concerted effort by many groups of salesmen—representing many products of goods and services—can so stimulate demand and public confidence that the ultimate result will be a constantly accelerated consumption of farm and factory products. Accelerated consumption makes way for accelerated production, which necessitates jobs that mean purchasing power.

The National Salesmen's Crusade grew out of these five basic truths. All five may be expressed in the simple phrase "Sales Mean Jobs." Conversely, "Jobs Mean Sales," because people purchase only when they have purchasing power. When sales are stimulated, the way is open for stimulated purchasing power, which in turn opens the way for more sales.

No previous attempts to promote business recovery have placed the emphasis upon the American salesman. His tremendous power to create employment has gone unused in times of stress. The national need for his services never has been greater than it is today. Valuable help can come from our financial, our industrial, our individual leaders. But the real leadership—the greatest potential source of power to stimulate business—lies in the collective action of the hundreds of thousands of men and women who sell. It is this power that the National Salesmen's Crusade proposes to put to use.

The song "Dixie," composed in 1859, was used by the Confederacy as a war song.

Have You Read?

In "A Wanderer Tell I Die" Leonard Clark, young American aviator, soldier of fortune, hunter and mountain climber, tells a vigorous tale of his adventures in the Far East and Mexico. Intending to enter the Chinese air force, Clark discovered to his dismay that native pilots were plentiful at $25 "Mex" per month. Bailed in his desire to be a Chinese Von Richtofen, he turned to tiger hunting in Southern China, an expedition into the interior of Borneo in search of the fabulous "Tailed-men," and many other equally colorful pastimes.

Hsu Chen-Chia, China's greatest aviator, flew him over Hangchow and pointed out "West Lake," described many hundred years ago by Marco Polo. In Celebes, while gold prospecting, he was captured and threatened with death by savage Tadjia natives. A few months later he visited Mexico and made the perilous ascent of Mt. Orizaba, which rises 19,000 feet out of the jungles of Yucatan.

Clark's unfailing good nature and observant eye, two prime requisites for the born wanderer, make this fast-moving tale a memorable one for the reader.

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 17.—Announcement yesterday by United States Attorney Stanley Granger of Pittsburgh that he has been instructed to examine titles to the properties in South Main avenue, chosen by a joint treasury-postoffice department committee as the site for Sharon's new postoffice, revealed that the government was prepared to carry out its plans for early construction of the building, to cost $250,000, on the South Main avenue site.

The announcement was a new disappointment to a committee of Sharon citizens, who a month ago conducted a vigorous campaign to have the new edifice built on the site of the present postoffice at Vine avenue and Silver street.

Reiters Defeat Nobils Team In Tourney Battle

Score Is 3 To 2 In First Game Of Series, Wabash Bears And N. Y. A.

SECOND ROUND GAMES TONIGHT

Staging one of the biggest upsets of the City-County softball tourney to date the Reiters team last night before one of the biggest crowds of the year at the Radfield field topped the heavy-hitting Nobils team 3 to 2. The same two teams will battle at the Rad field tonight in the second game of the three-game series. The game will start at 6 o'clock.

Over at Gaston Park the Wabash Bears and N. Y. A. teams battled to a 9-9 tie that was halted by darkness. The same two teams will meet again tonight at the Gaston Park field.

Elmer "Shifty" Laitanen had the mound assignment for the Reiters and silenced the Nobils to the extent of three hits. A triple by Copple accounted for the two Nobil runs in the fifth inning.

Shafie Stars At Bat

Sammy Pezzone did the pitching for the Nobils and was not quite as effective as Laitanen. He was found for six hits. "Shifty" Shafie led the hitting for the Reiters with his trusty bat slugging in all three of the runs that the Reiters made. It was probably the best game of the year at the Rad Field. The fans enjoyed the game very much. No doubt in event of good weather another big crowd will go to the Radfield field tonight to watch the teams in action.

Hahn To Pitch

Manager Reiter will no doubt give the pitching assignment to his ace "Iron Man" Hahn and the Nobils are going to find the going tough. Roger Magg will do the pitching for the Shomons tonight.

"Irv" Rubels and Joe Isabella did the hurling for the N. Y. A. team at Gaston Park field. Miron was on the mound for the Bears until relieved by Mike Rainey. The star hitters of the game were Monk Rainey, Genocock, Toscano and Willie Rung.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Nobils 000 020 300 3 0 Reiters 000 001 028—3 6 2

Batteries: Nobils: Pezzone and Richards; Reiters: Laitanen and Shafie.

Pirates-Yanks Shaping Up As Series Teams

Pirates Win From Reds As Giants Lose And Increase Lead In League

YANKS WIN AND INCREASE LEAD

By FAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Although Pie Traynor and Joe McCarthy are two of the most congenial men in baseball, they probably will want to brain me for suggesting that it might be a good idea to make your world series reservations now at Pittsburgh and New York.

A glance at the standings today should convince even the most optimistic Giant or Indian rooter that their favorites don't stand much chance to head off Pie's Pirates or Joe's Yankees.

Pirates Top Reds
The Pirates and Yanks each have 51 games left to play. Each has lost seven fewer games than their closest rival. This means the Pirates and Yanks must lose seven games more than either the Giants or Indians in the next 51 games for either of the trailers even to tie and the odds against such an eventuality should be at least 10 to 1.

Neither the Pirates nor the Yanks show signs of cracking. In fact, both seemed to be picking up speed as they move along to their first world series meeting since 1927.

The Pirates picked up another game yesterday when Cy Blanton hand-cuffed the Reds, 10 to 0, for his tenth victory while the Dodgers were staging a ninth inning rally behind Vic Tamulis to wallop the Giants, 7-3.

Yanks Increase Lead
The Yanks also increased their margin over the Indians for while the Indians did manage to slug out a 9-6 verdict over the Browns, the Yanks turned in a double victory at the expense of the Senators, 16-1 and 6-2.

The first game was noteworthy only for the fact that Lou Gehrig, who has been steadily boosting his average toward the 300 mark, got four for four, including his 22nd homer, and the nightcap was enlivened by Joe DiMaggio's 23rd round tripper.

Lefty Gomez gave only six hits to notch his 12th victory in the opener and Red Ruffing matched that performance to register his 16th triumph, which is more victories than any other pitcher in either league has chalked up.

Foxs Hit Two
Jimmy Fox struck his 30th and 31st homers in a losing cause as the Red Sox dropped their sixth straight game, the Athletics triumphing then, 14 to 11. The White Sox and Tigers were stopped by rain.

Tony Cuccinello also has the misfortune to see a pair of homers wasted as the Phils came through in the eleventh to beat the Bees, 7 to 6.

The Cubs, like the Phils, did it the hard way in the first game of their doubleheader with the Cardinals. The Cubs scored twice in the ninth to tie and won in the eleventh, 5-4, when Frank Demaree tripled to break up the game.

The Cubs were not so fortunate in the second tie when they were hand-cuffed 5 to 2 by their old buddy Curt Davis, who also was thoughtfully enough to aid his own cause with a homer.

Butler Race Meet To Start Thursday
Handicap Events To Be Started With Barrier

BUTLER, Aug. 17.—Handicap events Friday and Saturday and four closed stake events will feature the three day harness horse racing program at the Butler Fair and Exposition opening Thursday and continuing through Saturday afternoon.

The fastest classes in both trot and pace will be handicap events. This is an innovation at the Butler track. All handicap events will be started with the barrier.

The 2:14 class starts at scratch. The 2:12 class 40 feet back. The 2:10 class 80 feet back and the faster class at 120 feet from the starting line. Heat winners will be set back 40 feet in the next heat although none may be back farther than 120 feet from the starting line.

Joe McGraw, Grand Circuit judge will be the starter this year. Well known in harness horse circles, McGraw is considered one of the best in the business.

Two stake races will be run on Thursday and two on Friday. The 2:25 trot and the 2:26 pace are for $500. Horses were named and entrance paid March 15 and April 16. Entrance has been paid on 11 trotters and 13 pacers.

The two year old trot and the two year old pace are also stake races, where colts were named and entrance paid early in the spring. There were 10 trotters and 14 pacers named.

No short strikes here!

Have you ever enjoyed plenty of fly strikes, without hooking a fish? Have you often wondered why so many bass rise fast, only to be hooked foul?

If so, you will take interest in the "striking comment" of Don Haines, professor at the University of Michigan and veteran outdoorsman, who writes us:

Perhaps other fly fishermen have had the experience of losing a heavy percentage of "instantaneous strikes" while bass fishing.

A bass hits so nearly at the instant the fly touches the surface that its action and reaction are practically simultaneous.

Yet the fish may not be hooked at all, although his strike seems much more eager, and savage than those which have resulted in landed fish.

One day last summer the only three strikes I had were of this sort, and not a fish was hooked. . . . I related the experience to a friend who does his fish-work in a laboratory.

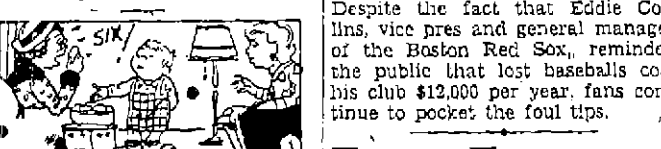

"The fish weren't hooked," he said, "because their strikes were not accurate. They saw the fly coming through the air before it touched the water."

"Refraction bothers a fish just as much as it does a man, but the fish doesn't know enough to allow for it. So he sometimes strikes close to the fly instead of actually hitting it. The only fish I have hooked on such strikes have been hooked foul."

This explanation isn't guaranteed to hold for all cases, but it should provide solace to the anglers who miss many of the sharpest strikes and lay the blame to their faulty timing.

Lawrence County Loop Series Opens

Wampum And Bessemer Play First Game At Wampum Today

BESSEMER SEEKING FOURTH TITLE

What may prove one of the most thrilling baseball series for the championship of the Lawrence County league will get under way at 5:30 p. m. today in Wampum when Bessemer and Wampum meet. The series is scheduled to go five games or the best of five.

Wampum captured the second half of the race last ended August 12, and Bessemer won the first half. Bessemer had no difficulty winning the first half when six clubs were in the loop and Wampum fared no worse against three other clubs in the second half.

Both teams are fortified with good pitchers and catchers. Bessemer will depend upon Hardesty, Snyder, Dick Nord and Tomassello. Wampum will rely upon No-Run, No-Hit Brackovich, who turned in two such feats, and Harper.

Wampum will play Marshall at first. He has been one of the outstanding batters of the league, while Paul Nord, a veteran keystone sacker, is said to be the best fielding first baseman in the loop. Bessemer can use Gorenz if needed at first. He can also play the outfield.

The opposing second basemen will be C. Demark for Wampum and Steamer Stanley for Bessemer. Both are fast fielders. Stanley is one of the best base stealers and may capture the steal record for the league.

Nick Looks Good
Nick Scala may some day find himself playing short on some big league team. He is flashy, dependable and a good hitter for Wampum. Webb Stanley, his opponent, is a .400 hitter and fast. Archie Young, a substitute shortstop, is not as good a hitter as Stanley, according to reports. However, he is a good infielder.

In left field Wampum has A. Fortana. He is a good outfielder and is apt to break up a game with a home run. W. Porumaki can roam an outfield like an Indian can trek through a woods and at bat he is said to be quite worrisome to pitchers.

In center field Valentine of Bessemer has no introduction in county and city circles. A veteran of the leagues he is poison to pitchers. R. Ditchell of Wampum, needs no tears shed for him. He is a fast runner and very dangerous at the plate.

Julius in right field for Wampum has earned a regular spot in the line-up due to his timely hitting, fast fielding, while Bessemer has P. Corne, a fielder that covers miles of ground, and also Samra, a veteran of the league.

Wampum is managed by Gafney, a newcomer to the county league. He is smart, a good sport and has the boys fighting for every game. Jimmie Martin needs no introduction in the County Baseball circles. He has always been the fans of the county a team to talk about, and has Bessemer seeking their fourth championship in five years.

NEW CASTLE LEAGUE

Reynolds, Summers and McCann jumped from fourth to second place, only three points behind the leaders: Carnegie-Illinois, in the matches played at Sylvan Heights course last evening. The clothing merchants took six points from the crippled News team, while Carnegie-Illinois had to fight hard to get a point advantage over Union Brewing. The steel workers are still fairly safe, however, if they continue to play the brand of golf they have been showing during the second half.

The results of play were as follows: Hardware Merchants 4, Melvins 3; Reynolds 3, R. J. Colaluca 3; Orlics 4, Cities Service 2; Carnegie-Illinois 3 1/2, Union Brewing 3 1/2; Reynolds, Summers and McCann 6, News 0.

TIGER JUNIORS ADVANCE
The Tiger Juniors took first place in the junior softball race yesterday by socking the Coltage Grove team 6 to 5 in a well played game. Ross on the mound for the Tigers was master of the Grovers in every inning. He gave seven scattered hits. Scillas homer in the sixth decided the game.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Track record of 1:58 1/4 for the Grand Circuit at the Illinois State fair grounds in Springfield was established yesterday by Chief Counsel, black colt owned by Ebn Mayo of Tarboro, N. C., and driven by Dr. K. M. Parrish of Urbana, O. He scored a straight heat victory in the Review futurity for 3-year-old pacers. The previous record was 1:59, made by Winnipeg in 1930.

Billy Soose, former amateur of Parrell and Penn State, and who has fought on the Pacific coast, in Pittsburgh and Clearfield, will fight in Farrell Labor Day. His opponent has not yet been named.

Pedro Montanez, Puerto Rican lightweight, returned to a New York ring last night and won by a technical knockout in the third round over Ray Napolitano of New York. The referee stopped the bout because Napolitano sustained a bad cut over an eye.

Tommy Leach is lining up some matches for next Monday night. Several of the boxers may come from East Liverpool and vicinity. The boys from that district who fought here one week ago Monday night impressed the fans.

Armstrong And Lou Ambers To Battle Tonight

Ambers Will Try To Defend Lightweight Title Against Dusky Slugger

ARMSTRONG IS FAVORED TO WIN

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—A crowd of about 20,000 will pay to see Lou Ambers, the well known jumping jack, defend the world lightweight championship against Henry Armstrong, the fighting Negro from California in a 15-rounder that will shatter all precedent for post-fight argument if Ambers is successful.

You can take this here and now, that if Ambers wins the fight he will claim Armstrong's welterweight title despite any and all covenants, agreements and contracts instituted by the New York Boxing Commission. Thus you will have two welterweight champions abroad at one and the same time.

Armstrong Favored
It is highly probable that Ambers will get himself knocked stiff or at least will drop the decision in keeping with the betting odds of 3 to 1 on Armstrong, but if he doesn't and unreasonably goes ahead to a victory, the thing will settle into a muddle the likes of which seldom has been seen before.

It all sums up into this: Inasmuch as they are fighting for Ambers' lightweight championship they must make 135 pounds or less at the weighing in today. Thus they will be below the welterweight limit of 147 pounds. And thus because they are under the welter limit that title, held by Armstrong, technically will be at stake along with the lightweight crown, held by Ambers.

Indies To Battle St. Joes Tonight

The Lawrence Indies, fighting hard for the second-half flag in the City Baseball league will go to Rotary field tonight to meet the fast St. Joseph's team. The game will start at 5:45 o'clock.

Father Schirra will probably start McIntyre or DiMuccio. The Indies will start either Savage or Wilk. The Indies must win tonight to stay in the running for the crown.

Thursday the Slovaks and West Pittsburg will meet at the E. & A. field in Mahoningtown, also in a postponed city league game.

West Pittsburg Trips Slovaks

"Crip" Powell Outpitches Mike Coates in Great Game At Cedar Street

Before one of the largest crowds that ever saw a city baseball league game in New Castle, 3,000 or more crowded the Cedar street field last night and witnessed one of the finest games of the year and a pitching battle if there ever was one. The West Pittsburg team put a crimp in the pennant aspirations of the Slovak club 1 to 0 with "Crip" Powell, the big Chewton boy, outpitching Mike Coates of the Slovaks.

M. Marky had the longest hit of the game, a screaming liner to right field in the sixth inning that went clear to the billboards. A Russian wallop if there ever was one. Three fast double plays enabled the West Pittsburg team to win. The only run of the game was made in the fourth on a single by John Marky and a single by M. Marky that scored John Marky from second.

Elsevier Stars.
The fielding of John Elsevier was sensational last night. He got a big hand from the fans. Powell baffled the Slovaks with a wide assortment of curves. Coates on the hill for the Slovaks also pitched a swell game, giving but five hits.

Each pitcher fanned five batters. They each walked two men.
The West Pittsburg and Slovak teams will play again on Thursday night at the E. & A. field in Mahoningtown. The Slovaks will have to win tomorrow to stay in the pennant fight.

Scouts Honor David Aiken

Leaves City To Accept Position As Assistant Manager Of Group Of Chain Stores

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17.—Shelby Boy Scout troop No. 7, graciously honored their scoutmaster, David Aiken, who has left Ellwood City to accept employment with his uncle in New Jersey, with an enjoyable farewell party on Monday evening at the Shelby club house.

While the scouters were very sorry to lose their faithful leader and friend, they rejoiced with him in his new opportunity for advancement.

The troop presented him with a handsome gift in appreciation of his splendid services.

David, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Aiken, of Lane avenue, has been one of this city's most popular and active young men and his departure leaves a gap in social, church and club activities that will be most noticeable.

In high school, he was one of the founders of the Hi-Y club and the first president of the club. He has been an active member of the Phalanx organization and a valued member and worker of the First Presbyterian church and Sunday school, where he has maintained a perfect attendance record for 18 years. A member of the church choir, he had a splendid voice and upon innumerable occasions he has sang for various organizations throughout this district.

He has accepted a position with his uncle, P. L. Aiken, as assistant manager of the P. L. Aiken stores in New Jersey. He left late Monday evening for Ventnor, N. J., near Atlantic City, where he will be located.

For sometime he has been employed by the Matthews Conveyor Company of this city.

A number of lovely farewell parties have been held in his honor and a wide assemblage of friends join in wishing him much success in his new work.

Rev. Little Is Kiwanis Speaker

Former Secretary Of Club Gives Interesting Address On Subject, "Pilgrimage"

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17.—Rev. R. H. Little of Vandergrift, former pastor of the local Methodist church and former secretary of the Kiwanis club, was the guest speaker of the latter organization last evening at their regular dinner meeting in the Trinity Lutheran church.

His subject, Rev. Little selected the word "Pilgrimage" and he divided it into the three syllables, pil, grim and age, and spoke on each one. Speaking of life in each division, he said, briefly, that life has the bitterness of pills; life is made grim by the facing of necessities and realities; and in age, most people don't like to look forward to old age and concluded by saying that life should be devoted to making preparations for a happy and satisfied old age. It was a fine talk and very well received by the members.

It was agreed to join the Chamber of Commerce next week in a testimonial dinner for Tommy Siler to be held at the United Presbyterian church.

On Thursday evening the board of directors will hold a business meeting at the home of Charles Blank on Sixth street at 9 o'clock.

Suspend Tax Sales For Thirty Days

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—Tax sales of properties burdened with delinquent taxes today were temporarily suspended for 30 days by the legislature pending the passage of more permanent tax abatement legislation.

A joint resolution directed all sheriffs and county treasurers to adjourn for 30 days all tax sales scheduled to be held prior to September 30, 1938.

The resolution was introduced by Sen. John S. Rice, D. Adams, the senate floor leader, who pointed out tax abatement bills now before the legislature could not be enacted before the recess.

In the meantime, he said, it was necessary to pass some stop-gap legislation to prevent tax sales scheduled for the period during which the legislature would be in recess.

Harold sustained a fracture of his left arm and William received a dislocated left shoulder and lacerations on his right leg, according to police reports.

Relief From Heat Promised Tonight

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Momentary relief from the torrid heat wave today was promised western Pennsylvanians by U. S. weather forecaster W. S. Broomman.

Commenting on one of the worst heat spells in years, the perspiring Broomman said that "it would be cloudy all day today and it was unlikely that the temperature would rise to yesterday's high."

A high barometric pressure in the west creating a "cooling wind" would help cool off the sweltering state, according to Broomman.

He added, however, that weather predictions were uncertain, but he certainly hoped this one was true.

Only Ambers' Title Will Be At Stake

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The New York state boxing commission today forced Al Weil, manager of Lou Ambers; Eddie Meade, manager of Henry Armstrong, and Mike Jacobs, promoter of the Ambers-Armstrong fight, to sign an agreement that only Ambers' lightweight title will be at stake in the fight tonight.

"We want it distinctly understood," said Gen. John Phelan, chairman of the commission, "that Armstrong's welterweight title will not be at stake even if Ambers does fight below the welter limit."

Short Talks On Advertising

Prepared by the Bureau of Research and Education, Advertising Federation of America

Oranges Without Christmas

NUMBER 11. Do you remember when oranges were scarcely ever seen except in Christmas stockings? They were expensive too. It was a great thing for us when the orange was promoted to a regular place on our year-round breakfast table. Now the drinking of delicious, healthy orange juice is a universal custom.

What brought about this change? It was accomplished entirely by advertising. Farmers who raised oranges wanted to sell more of them and they advertised the benefits of drinking orange juice. Many of us tried it and liked it, and we bought more oranges. Production of oranges went up and prices came down. Annual consumption of oranges increased from 7 per capita to 38 and everybody is happier for it, consumers, farmers, railroaders, and grocers.

A distinguished physician recently described how he and other nutrition experts had tried for years to educate the public to drink tomato juice. But they didn't get anywhere. Then certain food companies started canning tomato juice. They advertised its pleasing taste and health-giving properties. As a direct result, nearly everybody drinks tomato juice now, and in 1937 the public bought 550,000 cases of it.

Spinach long known as a valuable food, has been the bane of many a youngster's existence. To make children eat it was like pulling teeth. Then, along came Popeye, the Sailor. Backed by an advertising appropriation, he actually converted children into enthusiastic spinach-eaters. Popeye's thousands of fans want to be strong and they thoroughly enjoy their spinach.

Once upon a time, the Roman Emperor Augustus was in a bad way suffering from some sort of diet ailment. A traveling doctor fed the Emperor on lettuce leaves and he got well. Even that long ago, it seems that somebody knew about the value of green leaves in the human diet. Members of his court imitated the Emperor's eating habits and all began eating salads made of lettuce leaves.

But there was no advertising in those days, and salad eating did not become a general custom. Centuries later, Napoleon knew about the value of this kind of food, for he ate it daily. When in the field, his chief prepared salads of green leaves from a nearby tree. If lettuce was not available, but the general public was not greatly influenced by Napoleon's eccentric eating habits.

In this country, less than a generation ago, green salads were almost unknown in the average home. Today, we are a nation of salad-eaters. What caused this remarkable change? Advertising, and almost nothing else. Companies that sell dressing and other salad ingredients have educated the public to the health value of fresh green leaves and have taught people how to prepare salads. As a consequence the average person's diet has become lighter and decidedly more healthful.

Oranges, tomato juice, spinach and salads. These are only a few of the better foods popularized by advertising. There are many more, and the American table is now the best in the world. The good work continues. Advertising puts more health in our food and more zest in our meals.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Rebecca Jane Liebenow Crawford to George L. Owens, third ward, $1.

By article of agreement: Mrs. Bertha Buzzell to Henrietta G. Parascenzo, Ellwood City, $3,000.

Deputy Sheriff George Dean left on his vacation yesterday. He will visit New York, Atlantic City, Philadelphia and other points.

County Commissioners report that they have made another settlement with a property owner on the Hillsville road right of way, this time with Tony Kennedy.

The next session of divorce court will be held on September 2nd. Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts, John A. Edgar, is getting a list of cases ready.

Tax liens for 1935 and 1937 delinquent taxes, are now being filed by the different subdivisions of the county at the prothonotary's office. The list is not quite as large as in former years, indicating that property owners have been more successful in meeting their payments.

Attorney Errol Fullerton, appointed auditor of the final account of Mary Floyd of Hickory township. The loan was for $3,000 on a 72 acre farm. The amount due is $3,387.12. It is also claimed that there is three years taxes due.

Bridges which were formerly kept up by the county, are gradually being taken over by the state. It is said that there are now only about twenty-seven county bridges. Among the largest are the Cherry street, South Mill street, West Washington street and Grant street bridges in this city, and the Nassau and paper mill bridges in the country.

County Commissioners have just made a re-distribution of insurance held on county buildings in an effort to have this insurance distributed in a fair and equitable manner among the different agencies. On going over the insurance docket, the commissioners found that nearly half of the total amount of insurance carried by the county, had been in the hands of two insurance firms. This they did not consider to be an equitable distribution, as there are many agencies in the city, the members of which are taxpayers, some of them heavy taxpayers. In the new setup of insurance on the county home, court house and other buildings, the commissioners have endeavored to distribute the insurance among all the different agencies, believing that all are entitled to a share in county business.

Former Employees Ordered Rehired

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Twenty-one former employees of the Pennsylvania Furnace and Iron Company at Warren, Pa., have been rehired and paid back wages totaling more than $9,000, Charles T. Douds, regional director for the national labor relations board, announced here today.

The men were rehired under an agreement negotiated by Henry Shore, NLRB attorney, as a result of the recommendations of a trial examiner's intermediate report. Douds explained. A hearing in the case was held last January at Warren after the employees charged they were being discriminated against because of union affiliation.

The company agreed further to recognize Lodge 1538, International Association of Machinists an AFL union, as the exclusive bargaining agency for its employees. Douds announced. A formal contract is now being drawn up, he reported.

The reinstated workers who were paid amounts ranging from $56.25 to $1,399.51 were listed by Douds as: Hugh Rydgen, Earl Reider, Earl McClure, Art McClain, Fred Shriver, Jacob Farr, Martin Jaspersen, Elmer Peterson, William T. Mohr, Jerome Paul, Roy Renolds, William Robson, Alfred Johnson, Stanley Weick, Clifford Scott, Laverne Jaspersen, Carl Williams, Russell Bailey, Albert Anderson, Albert Johnson and Fred Mack.

False Teeth Wearers Are Worst Breath Offenders!

"Need More Than a Mouth Wash" say Authorities... Recommend Polident

Plates and bridges soak up odors and impurities like a sponge! A thin dark scum collects on them. This scum holds germs and decay bacteria. It is so tough that ordinary brushing seldom removes it. And it gets into every tiny crevice where brushing can't even reach. Almost always it results in "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors.

Yet there's a perfect way to clean and purify false teeth without brushing, acid or danger. It is Polident, the powder that dissolves away all scum, stains, tarnish and odor. Makes breath sweeter—and plates or bridges look better and feel better. Tens of thousands call Polident a blessing for comfort, convenience and hygiene. Long-lasting can cost only 30¢ at any drug store. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau and dentists everywhere.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic

Put plate or bridge in 1/2 glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Let it sit 10 to 15 minutes—then—rinse and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

Pay No Attention To Guffey Letters

Mell George, Guffey Leader Here Claims Letters Not Authentic.

"Pay no attention to letters purporting to be from Senator Joseph F. Guffey, asking for campaign contributions" was the warning issued today by Mell George, leader of the Guffey faction in Lawrence county.

"So far as I know, Senator Guffey has not authorized any such letters," said George. "On the date they were sent out, Senator Guffey was in Europe. I have advised my friends who have asked me, to forget the letters."
